

Dear Jack & Karen,

Thank you for adding our prayer request for Father Tim Vakoc, the Army chaplain wounded in Iraq. I did a little searching for more detail than I was able to provide initially. He was wounded on May 29th near Mosul, reportedly on the 12th anniversary of his ordination. He absorbed just about the full force of the explosion and those in the armored Humvee with him were shaken up but not wounded seriously.

There is an internet site called CaringBridge.org where people can sign an electronic guest book and share words of support for Father Tim and his family. There is even an update section which, as of today, relates that Father is still being treated for meningitis and responds best to the sound of his Mom's voice. It is very moving to read the messages of prayerful support and love for this brave Priest in the guest book.

Thanks again for your efforts for WWME and for keeping Father Tim in your prayers.

Love and Prayers,
Jim & Joann Feeley

[Editor's note – To visit Fr. Tim's page, go to <http://www.caringbridge.org/mn/timvakoc/>. You can also go to CaringBridge.org and click on "visit a caringbridge page". Use "mn" for directory and "timvakoc" for name, then click "Visit Page". See the picture below for reference.]

The screenshot shows a web browser window with the URL <http://www.caringbridge.org/visitHome.htm>. The page features the CaringBridge logo with the tagline "Be There." and a navigation menu including Home, Donate, How To Help, Partnerships, Contact Us, and Help. Below the logo, there are links for "Visit a CaringBridge Page", "Create a CaringBridge Page", and "Author Sign In". The main heading is "VISIT A CARINGBRIDGE PAGE". The text explains that to visit a page, users must enter the address into their browser or use the form below, which requires information provided by the family. The form includes fields for "domain" (www.caringbridge.org/), "directory" (mn), and "name" (timvakoc), with a "Visit Page" button. A "Spring Newsletter" link is also visible.